Introductory Note

The Documentation and Publishing Centre spares no effort in furthering scientific research activities. To achieve this goal, we photocopy tables of contents of the major and recent periodicals that arrived shortly at the Documentation and Publishing Centre.

The D. C. is very careful to provide the research staff with the latest developments in the topics "Social and Economic Development and their Related Fields".

The present guide includes issues number 20 - 21 of the Documentation List. It contains the contents of 39 periodicals. It is arranged alphabetically by subject headings within which the titles of the periodicals are also arranged alphabetically.

We hope it'd be helpful and fruitful in paving the way of handling scientific material available at the D.C.

Any valuable comments and suggestions to improve the Documentation List will be highly-appreciated.

| The Eastern U.S. Agricultural and Food Export Council proves that an international exposition can be a smash show in New York City. | |
| WUSATA: Young Cooperator Hits the Ground Running | 8 |
| Not yet 3 years old, the Western United States Agricultural Trade Association has a full program to hike exports from its region. | |
| SUSTA: Firm Believer in Foreign Market Development | 10 |
| The Southern United States Trade Association is a key link to keeping the South's farm exports at a high level. | |
| Currency Problems May Limit GDR Imports | 14 |
| The German Democratic Republic is upgrading the country's diets, but hard currency problems may limit food imports from the United States. | |
| U.S. Holsteins Paint the World Black and White | 16 |
| The most popular dairy cow in America is gaining increased acceptance overseas through the work of the Holstein-Friesian Association. | |
| U.S. Herefords Join the Jet Set | 18 |
| The American Hereford Association has helped promote exports to virtually every area of the world. | |
| Foreign Buyers Bullish on American Polled Herefords | 19 |
| More than 19 countries have bought Polled Herefords or germ plasma to upgrade their beef industries. | |
| U.S. Facing Stiffer Competition in Colombia | 20 |
| The U.S. is a leading supplier of Colombia's top ten agricultural imports, but the competition in that market is expected to grow. | |

FEATURES

44 Special report: Selecting the right engineering firm

How to select, evaluate, and work with outside engineering firms for development projects. Officials of the World Bank and other experts offer advice.

61 Special report: Japan and the Newly Industrializing Countries

86 Remote sensing and highway design

Peter John Beaven

Computer-enhanced satellite images aid highway engineering, even on low-cost, low-level projects.

94 Coastal siting of hazardous facilities

Paul C. Golden

Careful planning can reduce the risk of marine and on-shore disasters.

105 Cost control on construction projects

Perry M. King

A five-phase system can predict, manage, and account for construction costs.

COLUMNS

5 Appropriate technology: who decides what is appropriate for whom?/Guest editorial

11 Evaluating dam and water supply projects/Financial technology

A guide to analyzing costs and benefits in water projects.

20 Dual-sound and stereo television transmission/Telecommunications technology

Simultaneous bilingual broadcasts are one benefit this new technology can provide.

25 Soil stabilization techniques for reclaiming land/New technology

Soil densification can allow for development on unstable soils.

31 Biological control of the waterhyacinth/Water technology

Biological tactics are being used to control infestations of aquatic weeds.

35 Supplementing coal with solid waste fuels/Power technology

Using waste materials in coal firing can save both fuel and disposal costs and may lower SO₂ emissions.

MANAGEMENT AND CONDUCT OF OPERATIONS RESEARCH AND RELATED FUNCTIONS	PAGE	CODE
The management of organizational crises, J. D. Ford	137	Aa:130
OPTIMAL ALLOCATION
A dual simplex algorithm for finding all shortest paths, M. Florian, S. Nguyen and S. Pallottino	139	Bd:000
An application of linear programming to bank financial planning, S. D. Balbirer and D. Shaw	141	Bf:119
On the influence of market structure in modelling the US copper industry, A. L. Soyster and H. D. Sherali	143	Bf:149
Stochastic programming models for decreasing risk aversion, C. M. Harvey	147	Bi:000
A solution procedure for the two-stage stochastic program with simple recourse, H. J. Cleef	149	Bi:000
One way to solve the parametric quadratic programming problem, R. Benveniste	151	Bi:000
An exact penalty method for mixed-integer programs, C. E. Blair and R. G. Jeroslow	153	Bj:000
A LIFO branch and bound algorithm for optimal container alloca- tion of used materials, W. Panny	155	Bj:154
Design of an interrelated quality system for a single product manufacturing process with assembly, T. W. Knowles and M. Z. Hassan	157	Bk:155
SIMULATION MODELS AND MONTE CARLO TECHNIQUES
Using a dialysis need-projection model for health planning in Massachusetts, J. S. Pliskin and E. J. Tell	159	Ed:215
Adaptive spectral methods for simulation output analysis, P. Heidelberger and P. D. Welch	161	Ez:000
MISCELLANEOUS MATHEMATICAL METHODS
EOQ formula under varying marketing policies and conditions, E. S. Subramanyam and S. Kumaraswamy	165	Fa:146
A perspective on software science, K. Christensen, G. P. Fitos and C. P. Smith	167	Ff:162
Assessing the effect of competition in weapon system acquisition, J. W. Drinnon	169	Ff:245
Approximation techniques for several stochastic inventory models, S. Nahmias	171	Fz:146
PROBABILITY AND STATISTICS
New formulas for predicting the size distribution of warhead fragments, E. A. Cohen	175	Ga:244

5 Commentary — A new phase

7 Notes

Pressures on the German banks; Salvage from the Ambrosiano wreckage?; Portugal opens the door; Falling inflation rates; Barclays joins the premium card clan; Another UK discount house merger; New era for US thrifts.

12 Monetary trends — US Fed policy; interest rates worldwide.

14 Letters

17 Where do we go from here?

Dr H. J. Witteveen analyses the causes of the present tensions in the world financial system, and concludes that growing financial interdependence must be matched by greater policy co-ordination.

25 UK monetary control: the need for further changes

The Bank of England's new procedures have not significantly altered the conduct of monetary policy, reduced official influence over interest rates or eased day-to-day management of money flows, argues John M. Atkin.

31 Japan: the other side of the trade war

Dick Wilson finds different views not only about the significance of Japan's deficit in invisibles and capital transactions but even over their definition.

41 How much capital is adequate?

Edward P. M. Gardener describes the problems of comparing bank profits and assessing the adequacy of capital.

49 A future role for commodity-linked securities

Once a safe uniform instrument has been developed, commodity-linked securities could continue to play a minor role in the financial market place, says Nicholas Budd.

59 Banking and People

Championing the US thrifts; Broker's top hat job; Banco di Roma's transatlantic banker; New jobs for two French bankers; Gerald Tedder goes home; FINC comes to Portugal.

People in Finance — Whitaker Wright, masterly manipulator.

69 Markets

Short-term treatment for Venezuela; LIFFE's first month; Forex losses in Singapore; Second opinion on Cuba; US shelf registration.

79 Foreign banks in London — Annual Review

Michael Blanden reports on the new arrivals; Foreign banks in Britain — the opportunities ahead, by N. F. H. Kendall and T. J. Sheridan (page 91); UK corporate lending: a shrinking pie, by Sean Heath (page 101); UK supervision (page 107); Foreign securities houses, by Jenny Ireland (page 113); Index (page 121); Tables begin on page 133.

191 Books and Articles — Exchange rate stability . . . or instability?; Commercial law.

195 Law — Guarantees; Letters of credit.
